

Walter "Babe" Williams, Tlingit story teller, entranced young and old alike.

Michael Lekanoff and the Alaska Native Choir are greeted with applause after performing at the AFN convention. Lekanoff directs the choir while the main director, Michael Ossorgin, is teaching in New Mexico.

More scenes from AFN convention

Photos by Bill Hess

Pauline Demas models traditional dress as part of the Native dress review.

The Bristol Bay Dancers put in their first-ever performance at an AFN convention.

Charlie Hill, a popular Indian performer from the Lower 48, kept the crowd at the Tundra Times banquet laughing with his acid humor.

The Kotzebue Northern Lights Dancers.