

Think About It....

"Secretary Babbitt, today we are urging you to take swift and positive action to assume federal management of subsistence fish in the navigable waters of Alaska. The State of Alaska has proved time and time again that it cannot be trusted to protect the interests of subsistence users. We believe the time has come for federal jurisdiction. Under state subsistence 'management,' highlighted by this most recent blow, our worst nightmares have been realized. We are turning to you to accept the U.S. government's full responsibility to protect subsistence under the authority of the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act (ANILCA)."
