Honea Graduates— *From Electronics Technology Course

Patrick J. Honea of Ester, Alaska, graduated from the two year electronics technology course at the University of Alaska last month and received an Associate Degree in Electronics Technology.

Sponsored by the Employment Assistance Branch of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Patrick was an excellent trainee throughout the four semesters of the course.

Choosing from several good offers, Patrick has accepted a position with General Electric at Shemya Island in the Aleutians.

His wife Deborah, and children, Paul and Esther, will remain in Fairbanks for the first year or two while Patrick is at Shemya, with a visit home every two or three months.
