

Alaska artists can apply for solo exhibitions

All Alaska artists who are interested in applying for a solo exhibition at the Anchorage Museum of History and Art for any time in 1988-89 are being urged to submit the necessary information to the museum by 5 p.m., July 17.

The museum has prepared a prospectus for interested artists, detailing the application procedure.

Prospective candidates should submit no more than 10 slides, each of which must be identified as to artist and title, in a container labeled with the artist's name and address.

Photographers only may submit original prints, to a maximum of 10.

Each artist should provide an accompanying list giving the size, materials, technique and date of each piece. A biographical outline of such information as previous training and experience in arts, commissions and awards is requested.

A panel of staff and board members will select artists for exhibitions, which will be scheduled at the mutual convenience of the artist and the museum, between early 1988 and early 1989.

The museum will assist with return transportation costs beyond a 100-mile radius of Anchorage and within the state. The museum insures all works of art on the premises and in return shipment, except for normal wear and tear of faulty materials or workmanship.

The museum will provide a printed invitation for each exhibition, with 100 copies for the artist's own use.

An opening reception will be provided by the Anchorage Museum

Association.

Works may be for sale, but are not required to be. The museum retains a 20 percent commission on all sales.

Applications will be accepted from all artists who have not had a solo exhibition at the museum within the last four years.

Those who want more information or an application form may call the museum in Anchorage at 343-6185 or write: Exhibits Department c/o Anchorage Museum of History and Art, 121 West Seventh Ave., Anchorage 99501.
