

Wanted

FIELD ACCOUNTANT

Community Enterprise Development Corporation currently has openings for two Field Accountants. Position offers the opportunity to train, instruct, and aid managers and bookkeepers in Rural Alaskan Cooperatives in accounting procedures as they relate to their individual co-ops. The successful applicant will also be responsible for the preparation of financial statements and reports; designing accounting systems; and assisting in the preparation of forms that must be filed with the State and the IRS. The position requires one year of professional experience in accounting and graduation from an approved college. Experience which demonstrates the attainment of the knowledge and skills equal to that acquired in a college curriculum may be substituted on a year for year basis. The base salary for this position is up to $21,000 with liberal fringe benefits. If interested please contact: Jeff Hatt, 279-4551.

The last frontier... let's make it the best.

Alaska's North Slope isn't the world's richest oil province. But it does represent the largest North American discovery, one of our major domestic reserves of this priceless energy.

Naturally, we're enthusiastic about our state's oil potential. But we're also aware of the concerns many Alaskans have about becoming overly reliant on any single industry as an economic base.

We hope you will see that the cost of supporting our state must be divided among all who will benefit. Because, in the long run, only an equitable division of this cost will assure the advantages any new development can bring to our state. And that means a better way of life for us all.
