

Allakaket, Nulato students take science course

Daisy Henry of Allakaket and Russell Darling of Nulato recently returned from the National Science Foundation Young Scholars Program.

Both students will be in the seventh grade and were selected on a competitive basis. The summer enrichment program is offered by the American Indian Science and Engineering Society, through the Colorado School of Mines.

The students had the opportunity to work with mentors from the nearby AT&T Laboratories.

Their participation was sponsored by the Doyon Foundation.
