

Sealaska announces Martin vice president administration

JUNEAU — Sealaska Corp. officials said recently that Robert Martin Jr. has been selected Sealaska vice president administration.

Martin was chosen by the Sealaska Corp. Board of Directors at a recent board meeting.

"Robert Martin brings an excellent administrative background to our corporate headquarters," Sealaska Chief Executive Officer Byron I. Mallott said. "He is a Sealaska shareholder, and we are proud to welcome him to Sealaska Corp. at the officer level."

Martin, 44, originally from Juneau, was most recently the general manager of Chugach Electric Association. He also was deputy director of design and construction for the state Department of Transportation and Public Facilities, as well as chief engineer and general manager of the Tlingit and Haida Regional Electrical Authority.

Martin holds a degree in electrical engineering and is the son of Robert and Stella Martin of Juneau.
