

McClintock named to state labor post

Jacquelyn L. McClintock was reappointed recently as director of the Workers' Compensation Division of the Department of Labor.

McClintock has more than 27 years of administrative experience in both the public and private sectors, 12 of which have been with the Department of Labor and seven years as workers' compensation director.

She attended the University of Oregon, majoring in music. She has resided in Alaska for 22 years, living in Anchorage, Fairbanks and Juneau.

McClintock will retain her current salary of $67,000 a year.