

EDWIN M. FITCH, veteran Washington, D. C. representative of the Alaska Railroad presents Senator Bob Bartlett with copy of Mr. Fitch's new book, "The Alaska Railroad." The book has been described as the definitive story of North America's farthest north railroad and the only long line railroad owned by the United States government. Mr. Fitch stands to the right of the picture, which was taken in front of the totem pole made for Senator Bartlett by Mt. Edgecumbe students long before Alaska became a state.
