

T.T. Tickler

Frank Degnan of Unalakleet tells of how things are before and after the coming of the white man to Alaska. Before, we were living underground in nice warm sod houses, and we placed our dead above the ground. Now we live in wood, frame houses, says Degnan, and we bury our dead below the ground. And, we've all been freezing our aes off every since.