

"If Jacob Adams had eaten hamburger and beef stew he wouldn't be where he is today as Mayor of the North Slope Borough," said Roger Lang at the AFN-Tundra Times Banquet held Saturday night at the Sheraton, Anchorage. Lang's remarks were directed toward the federal grand jury subpoena which attempted to force four Eskimo whaling captains from North Slope villages to testify about this year's subsistence bowhead whale hunt.