

SE Native women's meeting to start in Ketchikan April 30

The third annual Southeast Alaska Native Women's Conference, sponsored by the Grand Camp Alaska Native Sisterhood, will be held in Ketchikan April 30 to May 2, according to the January/March issue of the Sealaska Shareholder.

The theme of the conference is, "Native Women Making a Difference — In Our Circle of Life."

The conference is primarily educational and is nonpolitical.

All Alaska Native women, whether they belong to the Alaska Native Sisterhood or not, are welcome to attend. More than 100 women attended the last conference.

Those who want more information may contact the ANS Grand Camp-Southeast Alaska Native Women's Conference, Box 575, Ward Cove 99928.
