

A message from the president ~

Season's Greetings, and a New Year's resolution

A series of unexpected staff turnovers, costly equipment problems and production snafus have presented a serious challenge to the TundraTIMES board of directors over the last several months. Keeping firmly in mind the needs of our readers and advertisers as well as the important legacy of our founding editor and publisher Howard Rock, we have worked to sustain a relevant, timely and high-quality product. We are confident that an operational restructuring and other technical and administrative changes now being implemented will allow us to meet this goal.

Please call, write or fax us anytime with your comments on the paper.

Our very best to you and yours this holiday season from the board and staff of TundraTIMES.
