

"They're great!" commented President-elect Bill Clinton after seeing the above St. Vincent, British West Indies Elvis Presley stamps. The Democratic, an unabashed Elvis fan, mentioned Presley throughout his campaign.

While TT columnist Paul Swetzof, adjacent opinion, endorsed Clinton, he could not be reached on his preference for the young or old Elvis. A controversy arose while the U.S. was deciding whether to issue a young or an old Elvis stamp.