

Savoonga performers win crowds through fun

The Alaska Native Dance Performance Series continues with performances seven days a week at the Anchorage Museum of History and Art. Completing their performances July 2 were the Savoonga Comedy Players. The group dramatizes traditional tales, legends and folklore in the history of their village. Members include, top photo, back row, from left, Cecilia Noongwook, Agatha Mokiuk, Janet Noongwook and Amelia Kingeekuk; front, Gertrude Toolie, Clarice Gologeren, Kathy Noongwook and Margaret Kingeekuk. Performing last week were the Barrow Singers and Dancers. This week features the Tlingit-Haida Singers and Dancers.
