

The new Miss CINA

Maria Del Pilar Williams radiates joy after being chosen as Miss Cook Inlet Native Association for the year 1983-84. For her talent, the new Miss CINA performed a piece dedicated to the raven on her viola. Eight young women entered the competition, and for their talents displayed a wide variety of skills. Peggy Friemering was named first runner-up, with Paullette Mary Moreno as second. The other contestants included Friemering's sisters, Cora Mae and Ruth Ellen; Elizabeth A. Koutchak, Anna Magdalana Williams and Jennifer Drew.
