

King Island Youngsters Organize New 4-H Club

Gladys M. Musgrove
Extension Home Economist
Cooperative Extension Service
University of Alaska
Nome, Alaska

Youth in King Island Village recently organized a 4-H Club, with Paul Tiulana and Helen Pushruk as Volunteer Leaders. Club Officers elected by the group are: Johanna Kakuluk, president; David Nattanguk, vice president; Bobby Koyuk, treasurer; and Susy Pushruk, secretary.

Eleven boys who will be carrying a woodcarving project are: Patrick Katexac, Dennis Pikonganna, Robert Kakuluk, Wayne Pushruk, Mike Payenna, Jackie Pushruk, Francis Penatac, Joe Anovilio, Wilfred Annowlic, Ronnie Sidook, Roger Kunaayak.

Girls in the group were interested in learning to knit warm garments for themselves. They are: Suzy Pushruk, Linda Pushruk, Loraine Pushruk, Johanne Kakuluk, Stella Seeganna, Lillian Tiulana, Dorothy Inomas.

On Sunday afternoon November 20, the group will have their second business meeting and will see slides of 4-H club work in other parts of Alaska.