New Hospital Equipment At Providence

Commissioner Francis Williamson, Department of Health and Social Services, announced that Sister Evelyn Bergamini, Administrator for the Providence Hospital in Anchorage, has submitted a completed application for acquisition of diagnostic ultrasonic equipment.

The application was received for review by the Office of Planning and Research as of June 27.

The new equipment will be located in Providence Hospital and is estimated to cost $69,830. It is designed for special diagnostic obstetrical and heart problems and other uses, and is currently installed on a trial basis.

Public participation in the review is invited. Comments concerning the appropriateness of this project should be mailed to:
