

Students to stage election

Mt. Edgecumbe students will participate in the second nationwide student presidential election project called "Voting Opportunities for Teenagers in Every State" (VOTES), Oct. 29.

Phones will begin ringing as schools across the country, from places as diverse as Bell Buckle, Tenn., and Sitka, AK call in their votes. Students will tabulate election results, complete with a wall-size U.S. map that will be filled in blue or red to indicate Republican or Democratic states.

Student interviewers will glean political commentary from experts while student party chairs lead rallies for their candidates, cheering victories and mourning losses. A presidential winner is expected by 9 p.m. EST.
