

*Artists
display
skills
at
festival*

Thirty-one artists and craftsmen were invited to participate in the recent 1987 Alaska Native Heritage Festival at the Anchorage Museum of History and Art. Among those who participated in the three-day event was James Grant of Fairbanks, shown at top. Others shown, moving clockwise, include the King Island dancers, performing the "Motion Dance"; a close-up of the hands of Catherine Ahla of Huslia; Ernestine Hanlon of Hoonah; and Elijah Ahungara of Point Hope.

Photos by
M.A. Klueber