

Golden Valley Gives $5,000

Golden Valley Electric Association became the second major underwriter of the Fairbanks centennial effort recently when the Board of Directors unanimously voted to contribute Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00) to Alaska 67.

A. J. Lomen, G.V.E.A. Board President, said "Golden Valley enthusiastically supports this celebration, which will boost the tourist trade of Alaska and will build for the Interior a long sought Pioneer Park and desired civic facilities. We recognize this as the largest economic enterprise undertaken by the residents of Fairbanks. It cannot succeed without community-wide support of individuals, businesses and organizations."

The Board heard of Alaska 67's development plans from Don Vogwill and Jim Binkley vice-president for Budget & Control and Public Relations.

Fairbanks Daily News-Miner and Commercial Printing Company made the first major contribution to the centennial last summer.
