

State Chamber of Commerce to hear Hensley speak

Willie Hensley, President of NANA Development Corp., chairman of the Native-owned United Bank of Alaska, director of the NANA Regional Corp., Alaska Federation of Natives president, will speak to the convention of the Statewide Chamber of Commerce this week.

The Chamber meets from Oct. 1 to 3 at the Captain Cook Hotel.

More than 30 business and government leaders will attend the three-day conference which has as its theme, "Building a Better Alaska." The conference will revolve around three major areas of interest: economic development, chamber development and the state's natural resources.

Hensley's presence will provide the convention "a wide range of viewpoints on the future of Alaska business and are sure to inspire further discussion among chamber membership," said Chamber Chairman Don Finney.

The speech will be at 10:55 a. m. Friday, Oct. 2.
