

Ski Boot Hill Free Lessons For Children

Free ski lessons for elementary school children are now being held at Ski Boot Hill on Saturdays at 11:30 A.M. These lessons are being made available through the Fairbanks City Recreation Department.

Children must provide their own ski equipment or rent equipment at Ski Boot Hill. All children will be taught how to ride the rope tow in the first lesson. The rope tow fee is $1.50 for children for all day.

There is a ski bus running Saturdays that anyone may ride. The bus may be caught at Denali School at 10:30 A.M., at Barnette School at 10:35, at Hunter School at 10:40, and at Pay-N-Save at 10:50 A.M.

The bus leaves Ski Boot Hill at 4:00 P.M. and stops at the same places as mentioned above. Round trip bus fare is $.50.

A ski race will be held this Saturday, Feb. 27th, at Ski Boot Hill for elementary age children. The entry fee is $.25. To race a child does not have to be an expert skier.

The Ski Patrol at Ski Boot Hill requests that all parents make certain that their children have run-a-way safety straps on their skis.
