

Jake Adams, right, chairman of the Eskimo Whaling Commission, accepts a flag from Del Allison and Ron Aldrich, the two Iditarod mushers who travelled from Nome to Barrow in support of the commission's efforts to control its own whaling activities. The two mushers left Nome on March 24 and arrived in Barrow May 5.