JOB ANNOUNCEMENT Part-time, temporary

There are eight openings available for part-time, temporary Bilingual Research Assistants for a federally funded research project in rural Alaska.
 The study will need two Bilingual Research Assistants during January and February, 1987 in each of four regions: North Slope, NANA, Calista, and Aleutian-Pribilof Islands.

DUTIES: Each Assistant will work as many as eight hours per day for less than two weeks. Some travel to regional villages will be required. The Assistants will be supervised by scientists who are familiar with the region and who will accompany the Assistants to outlying villages. The Assistants will be responsible for administering a questionnaire to select residents in English or the appropriate Inupiaq or Yup'ik dialects of each region. The Assistants will be required to attend a training workshop in Anchorage between December 8th and 11th, 1986. All travel and per diem expenses will be paid by the project.

QUALIFICATIONS: The Bilingual Research Assistants must have an adequate speaking, reading, and comprehension ability in the local Inupiaq or Yup'ik dialects in order to administer the questionnaire. Experience in interviewing or questionnaire survey work is useful. Some college-level education is desirable but not essential.

The Bilingual Research Assistants will be hired as consultants and will be responsible for their own withholding and benefits. The Assistants will be paid a flat rate of $20 per hour. The study is being conducted by Human Relations Area Files, Inc., which is a research institute at Yale University, New Haven, CT. Interested persons can apply by
