Delightfully Unique !

We Americans are big energy users.

And 75 percent of our total energy needs are provided by oil and natural gas.

Oil and gas warm millions of homes in winter; generate much of the electricity we take for granted.

And oil is a raw material, too. It's being processed into everything from fertilizers to high-sheen plastics.

Of course there are problems. But without oil and gas we wouldn't have enough energy to find solutions.
