

All Fourth Class Cities Also Eligible for Revenue Sharing

Local governments are eligible to receive state money in exchange for services they provide such as road maintenance ($1500 per mile), land use planning ($2 per capita), and parks and recreation ($5 per capita).

As of mid-September, most rural communities had not applied for such funds, according to the State Division of Budget and Management.

Applications for the program, known as the State Revenue Sharing Program, should be mailed to the Division of Budget and Management, Department of Administration, Juneau, Alaska 99801.

If a community did not receive an application, it should request one from the above address.

All fourth class cities are entitled to at least that portion of the revenue sharing based on parks and recreation ($5 per capita) as a result of a bill passed in the last legislative session giving fourth class cities the legal authority to provide parks and recreation.
