

Allen Rock Recovering From Serious Illness

Allen Rock has successfully weathered the serious bleeding ulcer that almost took his life two weeks ago after the doctors at the Alaska Native Health Service hospital in Anchorage successfully operated.

"I'm pretty skinny now but I'm walking around the halls in the hospital," said Rock this week. "The doctors told me I might be able to go home this weekend."

He said his wife Frances and their young adopted son Rex were with him in Anchorage. He also said that his eldest brother Eebrulik Rock was at the hospital to be with him last week.

"They flew me directly from Cape Lisburne to Anchorage but I knew very little of the trip. I was almost dead," said Rock. "The doctors said I'll be as good as new in six weeks."

After a great loss of blood, ANS doctors had to give Allen Rock 20 pints of blood transfusion.

Rock's other relatives are: Mrs. Helen Seveck, oldest sister, Fairbanks; Mrs. Ruth Nash, Point Hope; and Howard Rock, Fairbanks.
