

Marshall dedication ceremony

A special dedication ceremony was held here in Marshall on October 10th beginning at 5:00 p.m., to officially dedicate the new high school building. We were fortunate to have the Regional School Board and Mr. Walter Brown (LYSD Superintendent) present for this significant ceremony. The Marshall Advisory School Board had selected the name "The Marshall School" by a count of votes taken earlier. The event opened with a cutting of the ribbon by Max Isaac representing the student body, and Alvin Owletuck, Chairman of the Advisory School Board.

Opening speaker, Max Isaac, welcomed the guests. Max was followed by speeches from Alvin Owletuck, Eric Anderson (Principal), Leslie Hunter, (Regional School Board Chairman), and Walter Brown. Mr. Walter Brown reminded everyone that without community involvement, the school is just a building. He also encouraged students to look upon the school as a place of learning. Following the speeches, there was an open buffet. The school cooks, Julia Papp and Margaret Duny, served chicken, potatoes and vegetables. Guests brought several varieties of hot foods and desserts. There was a large community turnout, signifying the concern of Marshall parents of their children's education.
