

Holiday Museum

The Museum at the University of Alaska will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. during the holidays, except for Christmas Day.

A new silk screen plate by Bill Berry will be on display through Jan. 10. A series of plates, drawings, and water color sketches will illustrate the development of the print from the idea to the finished product.

Berry is a well-known artist who has illustrated many books and articles including "Deneki."