

Alaska it's your home

Help us keep it beautiful

ALPAR is solicited donations from concerned businesses and individuals to help fund youth litter pickup crews. ALPAR is a private, non-profit organization that receives cash and "in-kind" contributions from businesses concerned about litter prevention and recycling. ALPAR's Board of Directors is composed entirely of volunteers from private industries such as grocery, fast food, beverage, soft drinks, packaging, petroleum, tourism and banking, to name just a few. Most of ALPAR's efforts, since its inception in 1983, have focused on funding youth litter patrols in Alaskan communities. In a unique public and private partnership, these two factions have teamed to develop a recycling facility where Anchorage residents can easily and quickly dispose of their recyclables in exchange for cash.
