

Ahtna, Inc., names operations officer

COPPER CENTER — Wilson Justin has been named operations officer with Ahtna, Inc., according to Roy S. Ewan, president of the regional Native corporation.

Justin is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the corporation and implements the policies developed by the organization's board of directors.

Prior to joining Ahtna, Inc., Justin was a coordinator and community planner with the village of Chistochina. A 1968 graduate of West Anchorage High School, he served on the Ahtna board of directors from 1980-'83 and worked in the Ahtna land department from 1977 through 1979. He has also worked as a big game guide.

Ahtna, Inc., the state's smallest regional Native corporation, is headquartered in Copper Center and maintains an office in Anchorage.
