Women from all over the state are returning to their homes after attending the 17th Annual Homemaker's Short Course on the University of Alaska campus, June 13-17.

Highlight of the week was the annual banquet held Thursday evening at Club 11 which featured Mrs. Haven Smith, deputy vice president of the Associated Country Women of the World, Chappell, Nebraska, as speaker.

She urged Alaskan women to be informed and to take part in government and politics. It is easy to have an opinion, she said. But it is not so easy to have the facts.

"We have a responsibility to be active and knowledgeable about our local, state and federal government," she said. "We must learn, in our generation, how to keep the peace in the world."

The new officers of the Alaska State Homemakers Council were installed by Miss Agnes Sunnell, state home economics leader with the Cooperative Extension Service. The new officers are:

President, Mrs. Trudy Sherman, 1412 Columbine St., Anchorage; Vice-President, Mrs. Grace Morris, Laurance Rd., Fairbanks; Treasurer, Mrs. Nona R. Price, Box 375, Anchorage; Secretary, Mrs. Helen Starr, 1845 East 26th St., Anchorage; and Mrs. Peter Adsuna, Nome, Historian.

The Anchorage area Homemakers Council presented their Dr. Lydia Fohn-Hansen Scholarship to Short Course to Mrs. Helen Wells of Selawik.
