

Stevens' Claims Talk with Juneau ANB 'Too General'

By KEN RICHARDS
Juneau, Alaska

Republican Senator Ted Stevens last week characterized his position on the Native Land Claims as "flexible and hopeful" and urged all concerned to "stay loose," in a brief appearance before Tlingit-Haida leaders in Juneau recently.

The Senator spoke and answered questions for an hour before 60 at the Juneau ANB Hall.

The Senator cited what he called the "inflexibility of approach by certain AFN leaders" as one factor holding up a claims settlement. He did not elaborate.

Describing his role as one of an "advocate," the Hickel-appointed law-maker remarked in general about the necessity of compromise legislation but did not commit himself on specific features of such a bill.

He emphasized he did not want to second-guess the legislation's future in his own Senate Interior Committee or the Congress as a whole.

The Senate Interior Committee recently voted against consideration of the AFN proposed legislation in favor of framing its own working document.

In response to direct questioning, Stevens noted that he now favored a revenue-sharing formula as a source of income for the cash settlement, but insisted that revenue-sharing must have a "dollar objective." He said only that he hoped the total cash settlement, including shared revenue, would "exceed $500 million."

He said he opposed a perpetual percentage over-ride on leasable minerals. Stevens said he expected the Senate Interior Committee to finish its work by February and submit a bill to the floor.

Saying only that he favored conveyance of title to "presently occupied villages," the Senator did not indicate a position on how much acreage such a feature would include. He left open the definition of "village" and "presently occupied."

Stevens attributed the recent "consternation" in Southeast Alaska over the land claims to the AFN's bill provision which would reserve all land until Native land-selection had been completed.

There have been objections in Southeast that such a provision would cancel current timbering contracts and restrain development of municipalities. There is no likelihood, however, according to Stevens, that such a provision would become law.

ANB Grand President Richard

Stitt, who chaired the session, called the meeting "good exposure for both sides, but, too, general."

The Senator was presented with the official minutes of the recent 57th Annual ANB Convention by ANB Grand Secretary Dr. Walter Sobeloff.

Introducing GOLDEN SAMOVAR SERVICE

Alaska's Russian heritage comes alive on every Alaska Airlines jet flight.

During the 1800's when Alaska was a Russian territory, the Samovar was a prized possession in every Russian/Alaskan home, a symbol of elegance.

Now, Alaska Airlines is using this elegant teapot to serve a special "Golden Samovar" beverage created by the House of Seagram, and is presenting it as the centerpiece to a feast of history on every jet flight.

A feast that includes lovely balalaika music, attractive hostesses in richly tailored Cossack tunics, authentic Russian menus featuring Caviar, Steak a la Romanoff, Chicken a la Kiev, Veal Orloff, Beef Stroganoff and more.

Golden Samovar Service is a new dimension in flight for everyone who travels to, from and within the Great Land—Alaska. First Class or Coach.

ALASKA
AIRLINES

CLASSIFIED

HELP WANTED

The State Commission for Human Rights is accepting applications for the position of Executive Director, to be located in Anchorage. The position calls for thorough knowledge of the problems of minority groups; training, experience, and proven ability in intergroup relations; the enforcement of laws against discrimination; and agency administration, including personnel management, budgeting, and procurement. The director will work under the supervision of the Commission with considerable freedom to use independent judgment. Pay begins at $1,655 per month. All interested persons mail or bring State application form to the State Commission for Human Rights, 520 MacKay Bldg., 338 Denali St., Anchorage, Alaska 99501. Applications will be accepted through February 20, 1970. AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER.

WANTED

Economic Development Coordinator for a non-profit corporation. Duties include: industrial development, recommendations of policies to Board of Directors in development areas, budget planning, liaison between Federal and State governments, and private corporations, travel and office managing. Qualifications: experience in economic development, budget planning, college education or experience in working with indigenous people of Alaska and administrative abilities. Salary between $16,000 and $17,000. Send resume to: Alaska Federation of Natives, 1689 "C" Street, Anchorage, Alaska 99501.

Help us help you with the news, patronize our advertisers!