

Editors Note

Editor's Note:

Spring is here and with school out and camping ahead everything should be bright. But the recent state decision to allow year-round drilling in the Beaufort Sea clouds the blue spring sky. Hopefully, the state will heed the words of Mayor Brower so the issue can be settled without a long, expensive court fight.

On other fronts Nuiqsut wins a prize and the Inupiat culture is being preserved by a new combined Commission. At least there is some good news.

R.W. Harper
Editor

All stories and photographs by the editor unless otherwise credited.