

Culture Day includes powwow

The Indian Education Program of the Huntington Beach Union High School District in Huntington Beach, Calif., has scheduled American Indian Culture Day for Sunday, including a mini-powwow.

Various Indian cultures will be dancing and singing at the powwow.

Five tribes from the eastern to southwestern United States will be represented that day.

Featured will be the Mountain Spirit Apache Dancers from Arizona, who will perform traditional ceremonial dances, some of which cannot be photographed.

The Winslow Warshield Dancers from Arizona, ages 5 to 18, also will perform various inter-tribal dances.

On display will be an exhibit of plants and herbs that were used by the California Gabrielino Indians for food and medicinal purposes. There also will be a booth for tasting Navajo fry bread, along with booths of many Indian artisans demonstrating and showing their crafts.
