RURAL ALASKA HEALTH PROFESSIONS FOUNDATION REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

The Rural Alaska Health Professions Foundation (RAHPF) is requesting proposals for financial support of projects in the general areas of health professions recruitment, training, continuing education, retention, health care education and systems development.

The Foundation's mission is to improve the health care system in rural Alaska by increasing educational opportunities for rural health care providers and to recruit residents of rural Alaska into the health care professions. The management agent for RAHPF is the Rural Alaska Health Education Center (RAHEC) which is located on the University of Alaska Fairbanks campus and relates through the University of Washington School of Medicine to Area Health Education centers in Montana, Idaho and Washington. RAHPF's operating funds are obtained through grants from the Division of Medicine, Department of Health & Human Services, Bureau of Health Professions.

RAHPF is requesting that proposals for funding be submitted for projects in six areas:

1. Recruitment and facilitation of rural Alaskans into health care occupations.
2. Development of high school enrichment programs for students interested in health careers.
3. Development and coordination of activities which ease the transition of a student from a rural high school into an urban university.
4. Development of rural training sites for Alaska health care students.
5. Development of continuing education opportunities for currently practicing rural Alaska health care providers.
6. Health care systems planning and development by rural Alaska communities.

Eligibility Guidelines

Any nonprofit corporation, institution, educational or governmental entity licensed to conduct business in the state of Alaska is eligible to apply. If requested, RAHEC may offer limited technical assistance during the application process.

Fiscal Information and Project Funding Limits

Total funds available for federal fiscal year 1989-1990 grants are estimated at $230,000. Awards will be targeted not to exceed $20,000.

DEADLINE FOR APPLICATIONS IS AUGUST 21, 1989

FLOODPLAIN MANAGEMENT

As a result of the recent Presidential major disaster declaration for the cities, towns and villages along the Yukon and Kuskokwim Rivers, the Federal Emergency Management Agency will be providing funds to State agencies, local governments, and certain village organizations to repair or rebuild damaged facilities. Executive Order 11988 required that all Federally-funded repair projects located in the 100-year floodplain or for other ways to minimize future flood damage.

While the Federal Emergency Management Agency will make every effort to reduce future flood damage, some projects will be rebuilt in the floodplain because their function required it, or relocation is not possible for economic, social or political reasons. If a project must remain in the floodplain, the disaster funding will include appropriate cost effective hazard mitigation measures to reduce the degree of future flood damage.

This will be the only public notice concerning FEMA activities in the floodplain. Additional information may be obtained and comments made by writing:
