

The unpleasantness of it all

The bickering and backstabbing between the Democrats and Republicans in our legislature is an embarrassment. What do our children think when they hear reports of cocaine abuse, an elected official admitting to hitting an intoxicated woman 'to defend himself,' stories of infidelity, of deals and lawyers? Soon more personal and painful matters will be revealed, for it's just getting warmed up. More charges and counter attacks will be vollied. Why weren't these brought out during past elections/ Voters would have had an expedient, less expensive and easier task. The rustling sounds we'll hear are more recall petitions or the skeletons being pushed back into a full closet.
