

'I SHOT AN ARROW...'—A Point Hope youngster, Silas Frankson, 10 years old, shows talent in picture taking as he took the picture of a boy with a bow and arrow at his village. Miss Dorothea M. Taylor, graduate student at the University of Alaska, had gone to Point Hope recently on a five-week photography project and enlisted some 40 grade school pupils. The project resulted in bringing out surprising talent among the youngsters. See page 4 for more photographs.
