

For Rony show -

Woodcarving judges selected

The Alaska Woodcarvers Associations has selected judges for the woodcarving show for this year's Anchorage Fur Rendezvous, Feb. 8-18. They are: Gary Holthaus, Executive Director, Alaska Humanities Forum; Fon Evans, Executive Director, Alaska State Council on the Arts; William Pedrick, Director of the Anchorage Historical and Fine Arts Museum; Phil Tutia-koff, Native woodcarver, Unalaska; Dennis DeGross, carver and Vice-President, Alaska Woodcarvers Association.

The woodcarving show is one of many art shows going on during the annual 10 day "Rony" Celebration. This year, the arts will all have their shows in the International Marketplace building, at the northwest corner of Tudor and Old Seward.

Exhibitors may register their woodcarvings between 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb.

6. Out of town carvers may mail their carvings to Mr. Irv. Mountcastle, at P.O. Box 4-1777, Anchorage, Ak 99509, by Feb. 5, 1980. All carvings will be mailed back to exhibitors, with Alaska Woodcarvers assuming the cost of mailing and insurance.
