

ALASKA REPERTORY THEATRE

Pick A Play And Have A Great Time In Anchorage This Fall.

By William Shakespeare
Directed by Roy Brocksmith
October 20-November 10
This hilarious adventure is set in the magical world of Illyria, where comedy is a way of life and romantic intrigue abounds. Will Olivia get Orsino? Will Orsino get Olivia? Will Olivia ever get left alone? Will you miss out on the wildest, funniest Shakespeare you've ever seen?

By Lillian Hellman
Directed by Robert J. Farley
November 17-December 8
Warm and gracious Fanny Farrelly finds herself between two worlds when her estranged daughter and family return from Germany on the eve of World War II. Humor and warmth mark this compelling drama by one of America's premier playwrights.

By Jason Williams, Joe Sears, and Ed Howard
Directed by Robert J. Farley
December 15-January 5
Tuna, Texas, pop. 250 (or so). Let's face it: Tuna is a small town. But there's a little small town in all of us, and there's a lot of small towns—and a belly full of laughs—in GREATER TUNA.

By Mary Kyte, McMarvin, and Gary Pearl
Directed by Walton Jones
January 12-February 2
Two hours of singing and dancing in a rousing, flag-waving musical celebration of America, spanning the years from the end of the Civil War through the roaring twenties.

Tickets on sale now in the Fourth Avenue Theater Lobby: $5-21.50

276-5500