STATE OF ALASKA

Department of Natural Resources

Apply Now For Seasonal Positions In Spring

Applications are being accepted for Natural Resource Technician I and II and Forest Technician I through V until November 30, 1985. These are entry level positions to professional natural resource management jobs. Many of these positions are located in rural Alaska. The Department of Natural Resources wants to hire qualified local residents for these positions in their communities. It is important to apply now so you can be considered for seasonal positions when they are filled next spring.

Please refer to the Recruitment Bulletins published by the Alaska Division of Personnel for details on the required minimum qualifications and other important information concerning these positions. The bulletins are available at all Division of Personnel offices, Job Service Centers, Department of Natural Resources' offices and most other State offices. In your community they may also be found at the mayor's office, the school, the postmaster or the village council office.

Send an official State of Alaska Employment Application to:

Division of Personnel
Pouch C (MS 0201)
Juneau, AK 99811

Applications can be found at the above mentioned locations.

If you are interested and qualified apply by November 30, 1985. The Department of Natural Resources is interested in you
