

In Memoriam

*On that last day of May, when you were born
A new baby nephew I had adorned.
You grew up smiling, always so happy
And put a smile on everyone and then made them happy.
I'd pick you up and we'd go playing
I enjoyed babysitting and you enjoyed "going out" and also driving
We would look at the airplanes and the moon go by
And see the ski-doo's, puppies and say hi.
You learned to say Mommy and Daddy
Brother and Sister
Aaka and Aapa, too.
And to Uncle Mikey always saying "Notney" too.
I will always remember when you took your atigi off
And drove my car all by yourself and crashed into Aaka's house
When I found that you were safe, all you could say was "Uh-oh"
With a great big smile on your face
And when you were leaving, you turned the TV off
Put on your atigi
And always said "bye-bye" and blew us some kisses
And now that you left us on that late Spring day
We know that you're safe in a place
Where there are no more Tears in Heaven*
