

Rural Providers Conference to be May 30-June 3

The Sixth Annual Rural Providers Conference will be held May 30 through June 3 in Tok.

The conference will bring together substance abuse workers from all parts of the state and is sponsored by the Rural Alaska Community Action Program Inc.

The theme of this year's conference is "Family: A Time for Love and Healing."

Andy and Phyllis Chelsea of the Alkali Lake Band will share the development of community after sobriety which Alkali Lake has experienced for the last 17 years.

Bea Shawanda of the Canadian Association of Native Treatment Directors will discuss family dynamics and her Native traditions. Project Dream of South Dakota will work with youth and put on a performance.

Those who want more information may contact the Alcohol Department at 279-2511 in Anchorage or write RurAL CAP, Box 200908, Anchorage 99520.
