

Tundra Times wins 3 awards

The Tundra Times recently won three awards in the 1988 Excellence in Journalism Competition, which was announced in Fairbanks.

The weekly newspaper contest was sponsored by the Farthest North Chapter of the Society of Professional Journalists.

Alexandra J. McClanahan won second place for Best Editorial for "A time for action."

McClanahan and Jennifer Gordon won third place for Best Comprehensive Reporting. The topic was rural trash.

John Creed and Geoff Kennedy won third place for Best Series for articles about bootleggers.