

Sandy Jensen In Hospital In Seattle

Sandy Jensen, long time resident of Fairbanks, is in the University Hospital in Seattle, after undergoing a major operation. She will be in the hospital for about three weeks.

Sandy Jensen has been active in attempting to establish bush amateur radio operators in an effort to improve communications in the remote areas. She is also a member of the library staff of the University of Alaska.

Sandy would like to hear from her many friends in Alaska, many of whom are native people she got acquainted with through letters and to whom she taught radio lessons also by letters.

Sandy's address is Room N.N. 416, University Hospital, Seattle, Washington.