

AccomplishmentsofRemoteAncestors

The British man of letters of the 19th century, left behind this bit of wisdom: "A people that takes no pride in the accomplishments of their remote ancestors will probably produce nothing worthy of recollection by their remote descendants."