

Iditarod Trail Race

preserving Alaska's heritage

More than thirty daring mushers are racing on the historic Iditarod Trail from Anchorage to Nome. El Paso Alaska Company is proud to be a principal sponsor of the race. It's part of Alaska's heritage that is worth preserving.

We are also sponsor of the trans-Alaska pipeline project, which will move natural gas from Prudhoe Bay to Prince William Sound. It will bring jobs, tax revenue, and clean-burning fuel to Alaskans.

We wish to become a part of Alaska's future heritage by providing the huge investment that means additional jobs, aid to taxpayers, clean fuel for Alaskans. We feel we can accomplish this with the Trans-Alaska Gas Pipeline Project. Our project makes sense for Alaskans.
