WEATHER

Two things, warm temperatures and a lack of rain will probably identify the summer of 1968 for many years to come. The pleasure minded residents and the tourists have probably never enjoyed a more pleasant summer.

However in some areas the farmer is troubled because of a lack of moisture for his crops. Low stream flows are threatening to have an adverse effect on fish spawning unless rainfall returns to normal.

The dryness has definitely added to the problems of the Bureau of Land Management in their efforts to control fires. Obviously what adds to the pleasures of some, is a handicap for others.
