

'Consumers All' Tome Available Through Mail

For the benefit of all interested people, the Department of Agriculture recently has published a revised edition of its publication entitled Consumers All, a fact-filled tome which furnishes valuable information on such diverse subjects as buying, using or making food, clothing, household furnishings, and equipment; managing money; caring for yards, gardens, and houses; bettering communities; using leisure time; and staying healthy.

Anyone interested in obtaining a copy of the book should send a request to: Senator Ernest Gruening, 4106 New Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20510.
